Finding Required/Recommended textbooks for Medical Students, Year One, using the Library Guide

- First Year IFM students go to the Library Guide for IFM Medical Students Year One. Bookmark the guide.
- First Year PIL students go to the Library Guide for PIL Medical Students Year One. Bookmark the guide.
- Alternatively, from the Library homepage use the link to Library Guides under Other, and select Medicine & Biomedical Sciences from the subject list. Choose the appropriate guide from the list.
- On each guide, you can use the Additional Resources tab to access important research databases, clinical information resources, PubMed tutorials, exam review resources, and the Drexel e-journal collection.

Finding more print and electronic books in the library catalog

- From the Search link on the library website, select Books and More.
- Check the location and status. If it is at another location or checked out, you can select “Request this Item” to pick it up at your home library. If it is available at your home location, note the call number and locate it in the stacks. Note that you cannot request reserve items.
- If it is an E-book, select Click for Resource

Gaining fast, easy access to select electronic books in the basic and clinical sciences

- Under Health Sciences on the Library home page choose AccessMedicine and/or ClinicalKey for quick access to a select collection of e-books. In AccessMedicine use Readings, and in ClinicalKey use Books to display the collection.

Finding electronic journals

- The e-journals list is available at E-journals Directory. Search by title or medical subject.
- Alternatively, choose the e-journals link under Search on the library website.
- Under search look for links to a helpful Article Finder and a list of all Drexel licensed Databases

Finding a summary of frequently used library resources

- Look for More under Health Sciences to find important research databases, clinical information resources, select electronic textbooks and reference sources, exam review resources, and related subject guides.

Can't find what you are looking for? Request it from another library by selecting Borrow from Other Libraries in the Quick Links menu.

- EZ-Borrow: search the catalog of over 50 libraries; requested material will be delivered to your home library for pick up from the desk
- ILLiad: place requests for books and journal articles that are not owned by Drexel. Articles will be sent to you electronically, books can be picked up from the desk at your home library.

Logging in off-campus

- To use online library resources and services, you may need to use your DrexelOne User-ID and Password to confirm your Drexel University affiliation. If you have any trouble, email libacc@drexel.edu for assistance.

Checking your Library Record

- Select My Library Account in the Quick Links menu to see what you have checked out, due dates, fines, and to renew your material.
